

New Linen Wallcovering Designs from Aux Abris

Founded by graphic designer and decorator Karen Robert and exclusive to George Spencer in the UK, this New York boutique design studio specialises in fine wallcoverings, printed on grasscloth, raw silk, canvas, woven Japanese paper and other distinctive textures.

Launching autumn 2020, the Linen Collection features ten diverse patterns and murals printed on linen to create walls with a crisp, tactile and refined texture. Taking inspiration from a wide variety of sources, designs range from a small-scale herringbone weave to large scale panels featuring magnolia blooms and are available in a choice of colourways from soft and subtle to bright and bold.

Azra: inspired by a Turkish rug, this design is realised in lively colour combinations, with a characteristic faded effect.

Four colourways

Blocked: a distinctive small-scale design featuring the subtle imperfections and irregularities characteristic of a hand block print.

Six colourways

Diamonds in the Rough: a diamond-eye twill weave. Bold colours are incorporated into four layers, creating an overall effect that is soft and subdued.

Six colourways

Glen Plaid: a classic, masculine plaid that exudes a crisp, sporty elegance.

Four colourways

Kadri: designed to resemble an Ikat tribal weave.

Five colourways

Magnolia: a classic yet modern design featuring branches of burgeoning Magnolia buds. A large scale print that comes as a two panel repeat mural.

One colourway

Oscillate: an intricate, bold, zig-zag weave in a bright colour palette.

Seven colourways

Scallops: a soft, overlapping floral design creating a fresh and playful effect.

Three colourways

Sprig: a pretty, delicate floral, reminiscent of the first days of spring.

Four colourways

Twill: an understated herringbone weave. Each colourway features three colours to add richness and depth.
