THE SCIENCE OF DESIGN

Unlock the Secrets of Design's DNA

Across six days London Design Week 2017 is an unmissable event for designers, architects and styleseekers from across the globe. The word 'science' comes from 'scientia', the Latin for 'knowledge', and the show is packed with opportunities to get the inside track. With 120 global exhibitors and more than 100 events, it is bursting with ideas, new perspectives and ways to see creative innovation up close. There are thought-provoking installations, alongside experimental pop-ups and dining experiences. Think you know design? Think again.

ACCESS ALL AREAS

Explore the evolution of creative processes, from concept to reality, and meet the designers involved.

CONNECT, CONVERSE, CREATE

Meet and exchange ideas with like-minded trailblazers and tastemakers.

EYEWITNESS

Source everything at one show. Be amazed by the design diversity on offer from across the globe.

WORKSHOPS & DEMONSTRATIONS

JELLY BELLY – SWEET SCIENCE

The science lab is given a sweet twist, thanks to the colourful addition of the original gourmet jelly bean®. Two cabinets filled with vials, beakers and vessels brimming with different Jelly Belly flavours are a playful take on in the show's theme. Design Lab, Ground Floor, Centre Dome (link to Design Centre East).

DESIGN IN PROGRESS GALLERY

Make a deeper connection to the latest collections at this exhibition telling the design and manufacturing stories behind the season's most engaging products. Trace the design journey from start to finish via original material such as moodboards and sketches through to the finished work. Third Floor, North Dome.

TIGER, TIGER

Taking inspiration from zoology, see the Siberian Tiger, hand painted and flocked, surrounded by botanicals. Ground Floor, Centre Dome.

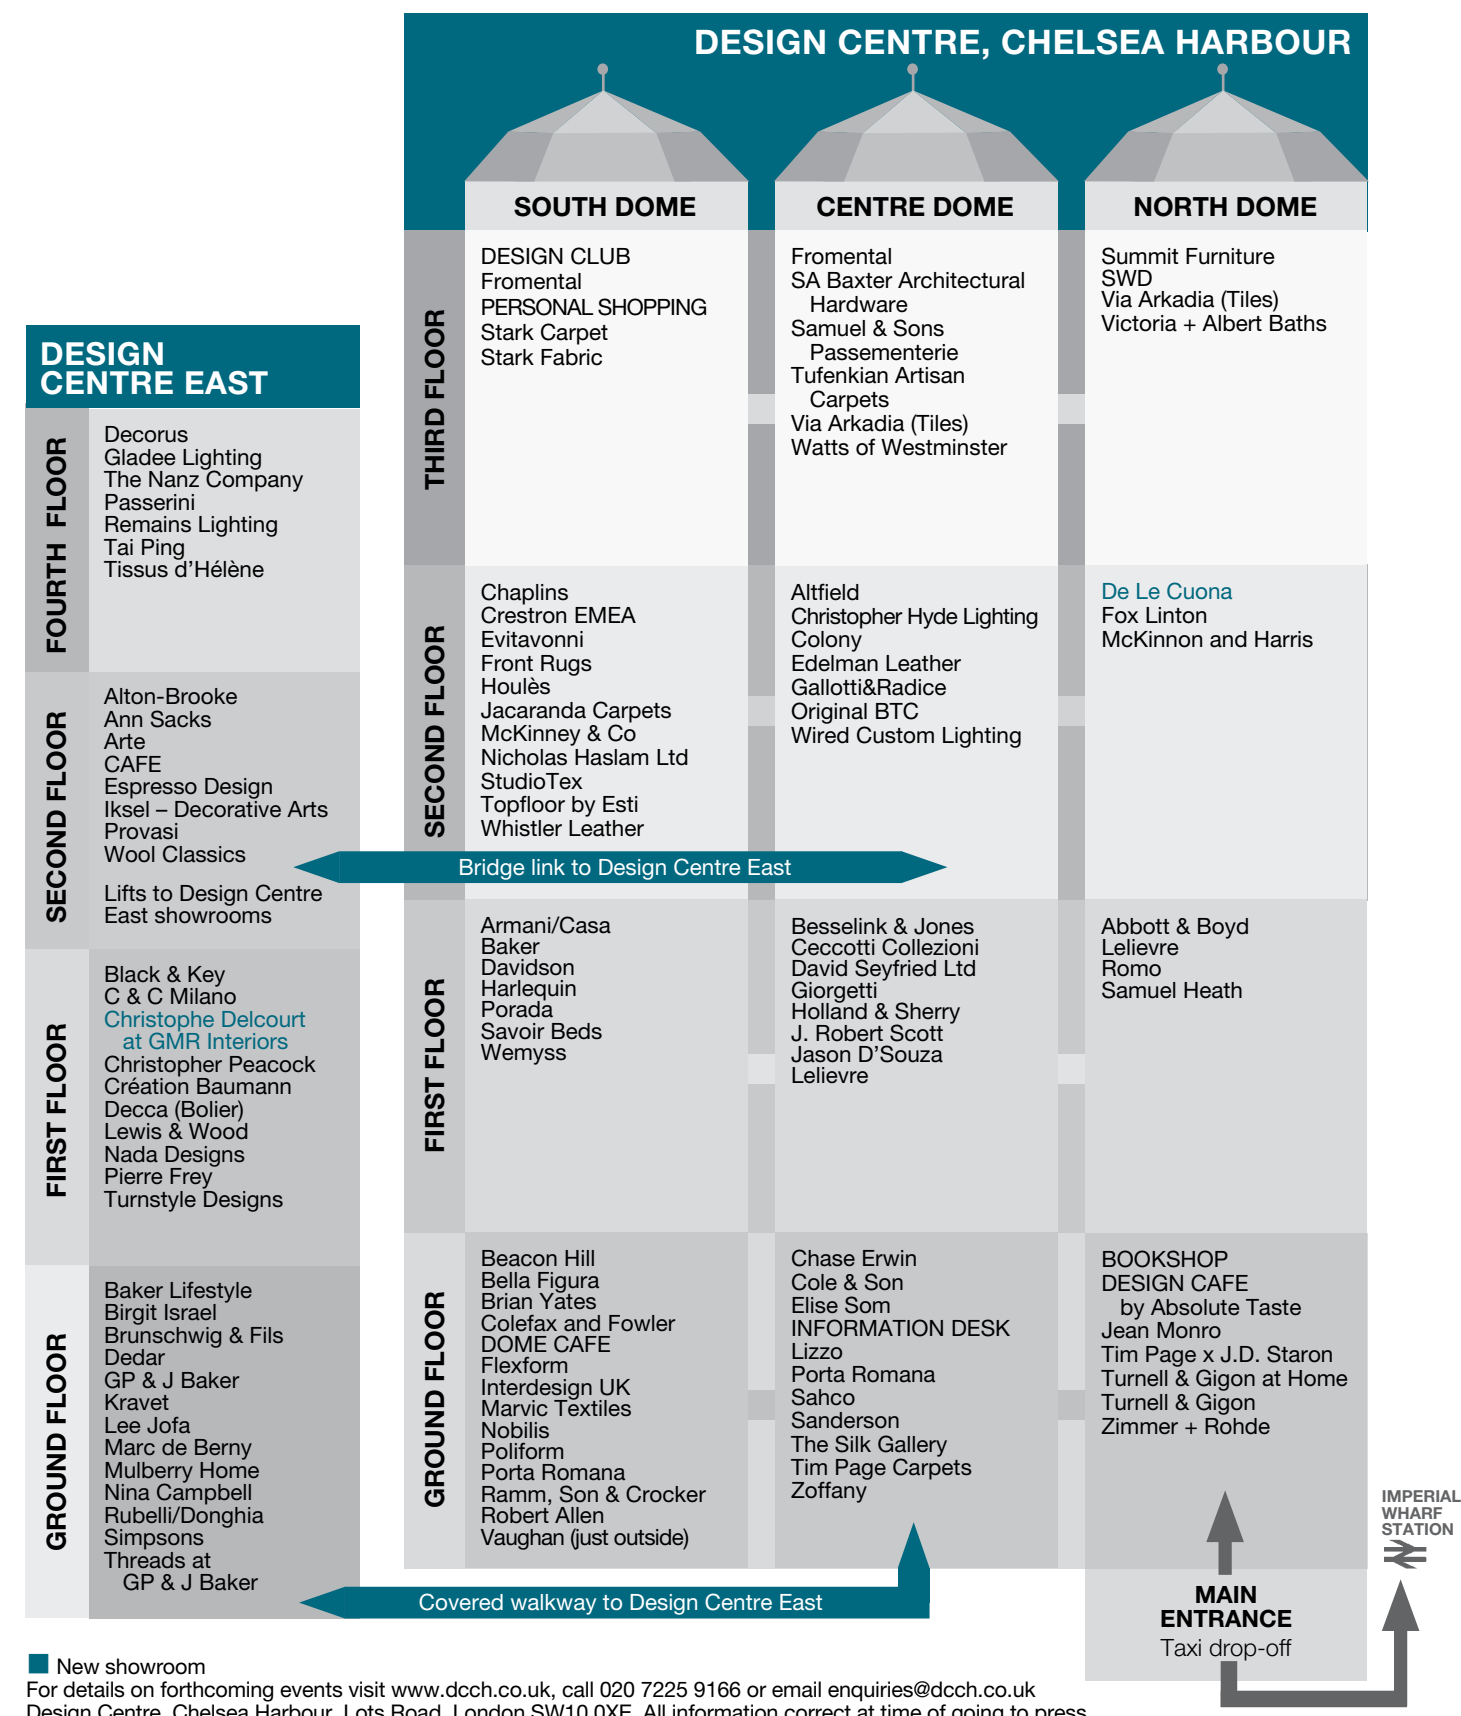

All products shown are available at Design Centre, Chelsea Harbour. All information correct at time of going to press
